and has not been seen since, ed for stealing brass from the Rapid was tried and convicted on three charges of petit larceny, and Judge Timmony sentenced film to 100 days on the first charge, 50 days on the sec-ond and 30 days on the third, making a total of 180 days at hard labor. Several weeks ago Jalior Sol Kimbali made Watkins a trusty and set him at work on odd jobs about the jail yard. Since the smallpox case was discovered at the old rookery, the trustles have been sleeping in the bunk house, and it afforded an excellent opportunity for some of the wearys to escape. Last evening Watkins took advantage of it and left for parts unknown. He had but 24 days to serve, but if caught now he may get the original sentence. He is an ex-convict, and is regarded as being a bad man.

DESERETEVENING NEWS | DISAPPROVES OF THE EVANS BILL.

Exercises His Veto Prerogative on the Ground that the Measure Invites a Deluge of Discord and Disaster, While Offering Only a Phantom of Relief.

Governor Wells settled all speculation | last evening as to what he would do with the Evans adultery bill by returning the measure to the Senate, last night, unapproved. The veto message is couched in the following language: State of Utah, Executive Office,

Salt Lake City, March 14, 1901.
To the Senate:—I have the honor to return herewith, without my approval, senate bill No. 113, "An Act Amending Section 4611 of the Revised Statutes of Itah, 1898, in relation to the making of complaints and commencing of prosecutions in criminal cases."

No official act of my life has been approached by me with a sense of responsibility so profound as is involved in the consideration of this bill. It is a measure of the supremest importance, and in its consequences for good or ill, it easily surpasses any other proposi-tion that ever came before this com-monwealth for legislative and executive determination. It has been argued in both branches of the Assembly with splendid force and ability, while its provisions have doubtless been eagerly discussed in the remotest hamlet of our With due allowance for the exaggerations that may be expected from those who warmly support, and from those who, with equal warmth, an-tagonize the measure, I accord to all of them, without any reservation what-ever, full credit for absolute sincerity, breadth of sympathy, and a desire for the public welfare, which of themselves render it a noteworthy and unique piece of proposed legislation.

But these conditions only serve to make the responsibility of the executive the more weighty, and I could have wished to be spared this test. Nevertheless, the recollection of my cath of office, the requirements of my duty, as I understand it, and the convictions of my own best judgment and my conscience units in demanding of me that my own best ludgment and my science, unite in demanding of me that I withhold approval from this bill. If I know myself, I can sincerely say that I am anxious that the very best and wisest thing shall be done in respect to all matters that have vexed us so much in times past. And knowing this whole people as I do, it is my firm convic-tion that whatever the present feeling may be, they will be sincerely grateful in the days to come if this measure is not written upon the statute books.

The patience, loyalty and conservatism of our citizens are so widely recognized that only by the passage of such a bill set this can their resultation. such a bill as this can their reputation be injured. The broad-minded and intelligent everywhere accept the situa-tion here as it exists, and are content to let time complete the solution of the problem. Even the bigoted and the meddlesome have to admit that with rare exceptions the conduct and in-tegrity of the people are above re-proach. In my opinion nothing can be clearer than that this bill, if passed, would be welcomed and employed as a most effective weapon against the very classes whose condition it is intended to ameliorate. Furthermore, I have every reason to believe its enactment would be the signal for a general demand upon the National Congress for a constitutional amendment directed solely against certain social conditions here, a demand which, under the circumstances, would assuredly be compiled with. While it may be urged that in any event only the few could be made to suffer, is it not an odious thought repulsive to every good citizen, of whatsoever creed or party, that the whole State should thus be put under a ban? Surely there is none so selfish and un-patriotic as to argue that this is preerable to the endurance of a few iso-ated instances of prosecution-unbacked, as they are by either respect-able moral support or sympathy. All of us can readily recall the conditions of the past as compared with those of today. In the shortest memory still remain incidents of that distressing period shortly before statehood during which so much sorrow and bitterness stalked through our community. Of stalked through our community. Of still more recent date-no longer than two years ago-another outburst was two years ago-another outburst was threatened and to some extent was manifested. But as a termination of the first, came concession and amnesty, and evidences of good faith, and at length statehood, in which everybody

I yield to no one in affection for those of my people who, from the highest mo-tives, and because they believed it a divine command, entered into the relation of plural marriage. Born and reared in Utah, myself a product of that reared in Utah, myself a product of that marriage system, taught from infancy to regard my lineage as approved of the Almighty, and proud today, as I have ever been, of my heritage, it will be granted, I trust, that every instinct of my nature reaches out to shield my friends from harm and to protect them from unjust attack. Their cause is my cause, and when they are hurt. I swill be marriaged and when they are hurt. cause, and when they are hurt, I am hurt, for I am part of them. But in that same heart which is filled with sympathy for them, I find also the solemn feeling that this bill holds out only a false hope of protection, and that in offering a phantom of relief to a few, it in reality invites a deluge of discord and disaster upon all.

rejoiced; and while, as a result of the second, the sun of our prosperity was for a time obscured, the clouds at length have rolled away, and Utah, united, hopeful and vigorous, is marching bravely forward to the music of the

For these reasons, briefly and imperfectly stated and for many others which might be given at length, I am unable to approve the bill now before me. Very respectfully,

FISH, CAME BILL PASSES.

Senate At Last Agrees On a Measure On That Subject.

The State Salary Bill Passes and Also the Coal Mine Measure.

Senator Tanner himself saved the life of the State salary bill last evening by moving a reconsideration of the vote, which he could have withheld until the Legislature and the bill both expired. In making his motion, Senator Tanner said that while he was frank to admit that the officials were deserving of higher salaries, to raise them now would establish a dangerous precedent that would come up to plague those who voted for it. The Senate decided unanimously to reconsider and then the bill was again passed. Those voting in the negative were Barnes, Bennion, Klesel, Murdock, Tanner, Smoot and Evans.

The fish and game bill passed the Senate last evening. The measure is an amendment to the original bill, bean amendment to the original bill, being the second amendment to it, serving as a compromise. The act limits the bag of ducks for one day to forty and of other game birds to the same number. The catching of trout is limited to twenty pounds a day and the sale of this fish is prohibited. The salary of the fish and game commissioner is raised from $900 to $1,000. The measure providing for safety precautions in coal and hydro-carbon mines was passed unanimously. It spector from $1,000 to $2,000.

A communication from the House stated that that body had rejected Senate bill 107, relating to the duties of the State dairy and food commissioner. The president announced that it would go into the waste basket.

The committee on banks and banking recommended the rejection of House bill 181, the bank taxation bill. The measure was killed by the adoption of the report.

Senate bill 131 was substituted for Senate bills 129 and 130 and House bills 197 and 240, giving the members of the D. A. & M. board, the Agricultural college and the trustees of the State school for the deaf and dumb $4 per day for actual service.
A sifting committee has been ap-

The bill was being discussed when a recess was taken.

In the House. Business in the House yesterday afternoon and evening was spasmodic. There were frequent long intervals when representatives had nothing to do but sit around and talk about the merits or demerits of some measure passed or rejected, or swap stories.

The reason for this lethargy, however, was a commendable one, nothing less than that the House is "up" with its work, and is waiting on its more de-ilberate upper branch to send it bills as it gots through with them.

The only debates in the House yesterday were occasioned by Gardner's bill for an irrigation commission to bill for an irrigation commission to draw up a suitable irrigation bill, and the bill making it compulsory to show cause before any employe of the police or fire departments can be discharged. Both bills were rejected after a lively discussion, fully reported in yesterday's "News."

Notwithstanding the scarcity of material to work on, the House yesterday passed on eighteen measures, six of which it rejected. The following list represents the day's

Mrs. Hanson claims that the old gentleman is now so feeble that it was necessary to have a guardian appointed for him, and therefore being weak in mind is not competent to give testimony in the case. The suit involves two deeds, one to a five-acre tract of land and the other to about two and three-quarters acres, situated in section 24, township 2 south, range 1 west, given by the plaintiff to Mrs. Hanson on January 19th, 1832. Mr. Johnson is 83 years of age, and plaintiff alleges that he was incompetent and did not that he was incompetent and did no realize what he was doing when he executed the deeds spoken of. He further claims that while in this condition the defendant pursuaded him to sign the deeds to the property in queson, turning the same over to her, all of which, it is alleged, was obtained through fraud and undue influence over the old gentleman, without considera-tion. The defendant denies all of these allegations and claims Mr. Johnso competent and knew what he was doing in 1892 when he executed the deeds. The in 1892 when he executed the deeds. The oldintiff has put on several witnesses, the testimony of whom goes to ishow that the plaintiff was very feeble in mind and body, and that the defendant, who is a daughter of the old gentle man, has great influence over him. The case is still in progress and may occupy two or three days yet in its trial.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Twenty-first ward fair that is in progress is proving to be one of the most delightful ward functions of the season, as is attested by the large crowds that are atracted thither every evening. The program last evening was miscellaneous, but very entertaining. It included selections from the Regal Mandolin and Guitar club, a German duet by the Messrs. Lawson and Penrose, a recitation by Gertrude Arbuckle, the waitress drill by nine children of the primary grade, a vocal solo by Miss Lucy Barton, selections by the Maori quartet composed of Messrs. Lambert, Asper, Hardy and Aldus; piano solo by W. B. Dougall, Jr., a recitation by Mary Pickering and a ribbon drill by ten girls from the primary.

There is a series of handsome booths presided over by Mesdames Mulholland, Pickering, Erskine, Heckman, Barton, Ash, Timms, Bert, Burrows, and Barton and the Misses Castleton and Barton. The success of the affair is principally due to J. D. Owen and William Castle-ton, the program committee, whose efforts are very much appreciated. A dance was given this afternoon for the children, and this evening a grand ball will be held.

HEART DISEASE.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion. Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumo-
